Roxanne Hills believes that working here starts by being here. She has been at Cornell for over 16 years and has gotten the Excellence Attendance award 30 times. What this means is.....

In the 16 years Roxanne has worked here she was eligible to win the excellent attendance award 32 times. She has won it 30 times. So in the 16 years, she has used her sick leave twice. Twice in 16 years. That is dedication.

It is understandable why she is considered somewhat of the bedrock that makes up second shift for her department. Roxanne’s dedication to excellence, in the face of time restraints, keeps her team on track. She instills the same level of expectations as the building users themselves. She often has to act as back up to the manager, she handles these responsibilities as well as completing her regular work responsibilities with ease. Roxanne’s ability to switch tracks, especially when new projects are added to the daily work load, sets a great example. She keeps everyone focused and able to concentrate on the task at hand.

Roxanne demonstrates the FS values by keeping focus on the heart of the project with her calm and quite nature. She recognizes and promotes each individual’s ability within the team so we all shine when the job is done correctly and well.

Roxanne is no stranger to excellence; she is also previously a recipient of the Golden Bear award of excellence. Congratulations Roxanne!
